THOMAS W. MOSES GOOD SCOUT AWARD

Thomas W. Moses, civic leader, passionate statesman and businessman, resided in Indianapolis for 30 years until his death in 1986. Among his many accomplishments, Moses was instrumental in bringing the National Football League (NFL) Colts to Indianapolis. He was Chairman and CEO of Indianapolis Water Company and was known for his visionary leadership, unselfishness, and compassion for others. Those close to him said his mantra was “Be nice to everyone. It’s the most important thing you can do in your life.” Although Moses was not a member of the Boy Scouts of America, he exemplified the Scout Oath and Law—being helpful, friendly, kind, putting service above self and always taking time to help. The Thomas W. Moses Good Scout Award is annually presented to an individual who does things for others without seeking reward because it is the right thing to do.
